"One of my major motivations for choosing CEU's Department of Political Science was the attractive combination of excellence in teaching and research on the one hand, and the good range of scholarships on the other. The diversity in terms of both methods and topics investigated, which is reflected in both the wide-ranging curriculum and the diverse faculty, appealed to me. The personal contact with the faculty helps bring out the best in each of us; and my classmates, too, have been particularly helpful in forming my academic thesis. They never tire of raising critical questions and giving valuable advice."

Master of Arts in Political Science ONE YEAR / The program comprises a comprehensive and interdisciplinary curriculum in political issues of high contemporary relevance. The focus is on the study of democracy from different angles – comparative politics, political economy, normative political theory – all based on the rigorous application of sound social science methods.

Master of Arts in Political Science TWO YEARS / The program is designed for students with a three-year bachelor's degree in the social sciences and related disciplines. Students have the opportunity to explore comparative politics, political economy, political communication, political theory, and quantitative and qualitative research methods.

Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science / The doctoral program is operated by the Doctoral School of Political Science, Public Policy, and International Relations. This program prepares students for careers in research and university-level teaching. Research areas include comparative politics, political theory, political economy, international relations and public policy.

QUICK FACT / In 2016, CEU's programs related to politics and international studies were ranked 40th in the world according to the Quacquarelli Symonds (QS) subject ranking.

SCHOLARSHIPS / CEU is committed to attracting talented students and scholars from around the world and provides generous merit-based scholarships available to students from any country. In 2015-2016, 85% of CEU students received financial aid, ranging from tuition awards to full scholarships with stipends and housing.
